It is an indispensable component for the continuous improvement of your market position with respect to your competitors.

MONITORING: The continuous monitoring of the performance of your critical business units and processes, real time and at all levels, gives you the means with which you can control your business. WEB PORTAL: For larger user environments, the reporting and analysis sets can be placed in a web portal. Through this reporting and analysis portal, large groups of users can access and use their custom made information solutions, in a secure and centrally managed way. Reporting sets made in the designer can be embedded directly into the web portal without any modification by a simple 'one minute' upload procedure. Once uploaded the reporting sets are available to large groups of users immediately. Of course, the web portal provides strong security and user administration.

INTERACTIVE: Analysis and reports published through either desktop or web portal are interactive. That means for example that a user can:

- drilldown to underlying information;
- slide the dimensions of pivot tables (cubes);
- make or modify sorting and filters;
- make selections (Top 'n' and Top%);
- place self-selected information in graphs;
- modify the design of the reporting sets (colors, chart types, etc.);
- make exports to Microsoft's XLS, Adobe's PDF and many other formats.
